“ My thoughts and prayers go out to my Uncle Bill, my cousins and their families, and the rest of my extended family. I will miss my Aunt Carol. I had such great times growing up around her and the family. I have many, many memories, but I always think of all the times when I spent the nights at her house with my cousin Dawn, that we would sneak , while she was busy reading or watching tv, into her candy drawer and take her black licorice and her licorice SNAPS. We couldn't pull anything over on her, she would say "You two better not be in my candy"....Oh, the fun times we had!!!! I know we are all sad over the loss of her, but we have to remember that she is no longer sick and we will see her again one day!!! Sorry... Uncle Bill, Linda, Bill, Tom, Dawn and all the rest of the family that I am not there with you guys. Just know that I am thinking of all of you and I love you all!!!! Danny, D.J. and Bradley send their love and prayers too. Love, Debbie

“ I'm so sorry Linda,Bill, Tom and family, Memories are what we have left. I would like to share my first. I ran away from home and I hid out at Lindas house we made up an awful name for me, I forgot the name and didn't answer the first time her mom called me it. I was so affraid she would notice, nope just offered lots of food and family fun, even when your mom found out the truth she allowed me back in your home. Every time I saw your mom she would smile and talk to me she was a wonderful,nutty person and will be missed by many. Still thinking of all of you Love De

“ I'm really gonna miss my ex-Mother-in-law Carol. She was always fun to be around and was an AWESOME cook and was a perfect match with her husband Bill. You know, a divorce doesn't make you stop loving someone. My thoughts are with her family and my girls. I'm glad that my kids were able to have such a good person as a big part of they're lives.
