“ Sending deepest love and condolences to all the Clines I've met and those I haven't. Being that love is made of pure energy, and that energy doesn't die, his love for all of you continues today, though his body is done and resting. He was a much-loved bonus brother, and my memories of him bring lots of inner smiles.

I interrupted him and said do you want me to stand here listening to your complaining or fix the machine! He looked at me and said fix it!! Friends since!!*
