“ Narayan (Ryan) is an inspiration, even though I was their to help him; I saw his patience, endurance and faithful spirit. He tried and kept trying. I would help him to stay active with exercises and several times he pushed himself to workout longer than our scheduled time. One memorable afternoon, he asked if we could walk and I helped him up, but once he was up; he moved all around the house and to keep encouraging him we started doing some dancing. When I asked him if he was ready to sit down, he said, "No. I want to keep going." When Lily came home I asked her if he liked to dance. She responded, "Oh yes, he loves to dance!" So after this moment, when he came out of his chair, we would create dance moves to keep him going.

Lily's devotion and Ryan's perseverance was beautiful. One day, Ryan secretly told me Lily's special day was coming and to get flowers. So I asked him what he wanted to say and I wrote it down. With no calendar or watch, Ryan remembered special moments at the right time to let his sweet heart know he loves her.

Ryan's beautiful legacy will live on with their family.

*" brothers and sisters, rejoice! Strive for full restoration, encourage one another, be of one mind, live in peace. And the God of love and peace will be with you."

“ We loved to talk "stocks." He was just superb in technical analysis. Ryan recommended two stocks years ago, one invested in gold, the other in silver, which I bought and still hold. They are doing very well. I will miss him greatly and he will always be remembered!
