“ Ray, where do I even begin. As a child I thought you were the coolest kid in the world. Then the night I graduated high school, you told me I was finally allowed to hang out with you and your friends. Then I felt like the coolest kid in the world. I remember playing 24 and jeopardy with you. The only time I won was when we were on the same team. You were the smartest person I had ever met in my life. I remember how excited you were when you were gonna be a daddy, and the smile on your face when he was finally here. I remember the gold chain you bought me for Christmas, I wore it until it fell off. I was so scared to tell you it broke. I love how you loved my poems I sent you, you always had confidence in me like no one else. Il never forget the summer ays we took our kids to the beach when they were small. They were growing up best buddies like we were. Living in lake villa, I got to see you all the time. You were a great help with my dog and helping with Randi when I needed it. Whenever I needed anything, you walked on over. You may not have always shown it, but you had a heart of gold! Honest and always respectful. You'd give the shirt off your back to someone if they needed it. A friend to everyone you met and a face no one will ever forget. But my favorite memory of you, was you always telling me, "I love you kid". You told me that nearly everytime we parted ways. Thank you for that. I love you Ray! This isn't goodbye, only see you later.
