“ Steve,
I'm going to miss you, however it would be selfish of me to ask you to stay in this world where you had more bad days than good days when it came to your health. I appreciated you company, support, and being there for me to talk to. I will miss cooking, watching movies, and playing games with you. I'm sorry the last movie we watched together was a dud. My family appreciated the last meal you made for them when I was traveling. You will be missed, however I know that you're in a better place and are finally free from pain. I'll see you again someday,

*Love,
Cheryl*
